Seminar: Enhancing Learning and Personal Development

Our college principal recently delivered an engaging seminar on "Effective Learning" for grades 10 and 12, emphasizing the critical role of self-esteem in personal and academic growth. She highlighted the necessity of taking rest breaks during study sessions, as prolonged sitting can diminish brain activity, and suggested incorporating physical movement to rejuvenate the mind. The principal also discussed the impact of positive language on comprehension, urging students to adopt uplifting phrases for better retention. She advocated for planning and journaling to enhance organization and accountability, underscored the importance of consistent practice for mastering skills, and clarified the difference between learning and studying. Her insights inspired students to take charge of their educational journeys and provided valuable tools for academic success.
